Fifth Straight Day of Aerial Raids on North

SAIGON (AP) — American planes continued raids on North Vietnam's heartland for the fifth straight day today, and the U.S. Command reported the loss of three jets Sunday—two of them downed by Communist MIG interceptors.

The U.S. Command did not immediately reveal details of the raids today, but Tass, the Soviet news agency, said American planes made a "massive raid" on Hanoi's northeastern district.

The North Vietnamese radio claimed eight U.S. planes were shot down today, including five over Hanoi and two over Haiphong. It said the eighth was knocked out of the skies between Hanoi and Haiphong. There was no confirmation in Saigon.

American spokesmen reported one MIG probably downed by U.S. fighters in the several swirling air battles over Hanoi Sunday. The American casualties were an Air Force F105 Thunderchief and an F4 Phantom brought down by a MIG21 and a MIG17. The three crew members aboard the two American planes were missing.

The third American plane downed, another Phantom, was hit by ground fire over North Vietnam's southern panhandle. One of its two crewmen was killed and one was rescued.

Including Sunday's casualties and a Phantom shot down Saturday by a MIG21, U.S. records list 36 American planes and 99 MIGs shot down in aerial combat so far in the war. A total of 765 U.S. warplanes have been reported lost over the North.

A freakish break in the monsoon weather—which began last Thursday—has permitted the heavy raids on key North Vietnamese targets after a one-month lull which permitted the Communists to rebuild shattered facilities.

Russian Secret Police Boast U.S. 'Outwitted'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet secret police boasted today they had outwitted the United States with false information about military strength. The U.S. Embassy said the Russians were indulging in "fabrications."

The KGB—the Committee for State Security—said it captured a spy named Afonov who was working for U.S. intelligence. It asserted it used his radio apparatus and secret dispatches to transmit misleading data about the location of troops, defense bases and the submarine fleet.

"Apart from attempting to glorify the Chekists—from the old KGB name of Chek—on their anniversary, the article seems to be part of a series of Soviet fabrications regarding alleged Western and particularly U.S. espionage," the embassy said in a statement.

KGB also said in an interview in Pravda on the 50th anniversary of the organization that two U.S. military attaches had been caught snooping at a military installation.

It charged that Lt. Cmdr. Robert B. Bathurst, U.S. assistant naval attaché, and Lt. Col. Robert E. Lichow, assistant Army attaché, "went up directly to a military object and impudently peered through the fence." It said they were apprehended on the spot and taken away.

The embassy reported that the incident occurred in June of last year at Orsha, a town about 300 miles west of Moscow. It said "they were briefly detained, but the accusations against them were without foundation."

Fair and cooler tonight. Increasing cloudiness and a little warmer Tuesday. Cloudy and a little warmer Tuesday night with some rain likely. Cloudy and cooler Wednesday with rain possible. Low tonight mid 30s. High Tuesday 50-55. Precipitation probabilities: Tuesday 10 per cent.

The temperature Monday was 37 at 7 a.m., and 45 at noon. 14 moisture. Low Sunday night was 37.

Vast Enemy Oil Storage Is Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shielded by rainy-season weather that has hampered U.S. air raids, North Vietnam has assembled a huge new oil depot piled with thousands of fuel drums, U.S. government sources say.

The new fuel dump—apparently a key one in supporting the truck movement of war supplies toward South Vietnam—is said to be only two miles south of Haiphong.

Because it lies so close to a population center, sources said, the oil depot would be attacked only if U.S. pilots could see it clearly and bomb visually. This restriction would preclude radar bombing through overcast.

A month-long period of heavy rains over North Vietnam broke last week and U.S. bombers have been concentrating on knocking out bridges and communication links close to Hanoi and Haiphong as apparent first priority. The rainy season is expected to last several more months, so the good bombing weather may not continue for long.

During the monsoon rains and heavy cloud cover, the North Vietnamese reportedly have repaired most of the bridges, railroads, highways and airfields which were pounded by U.S. bombers and fighter-bombers during intense, wide-ranging raids last summer and early fall.

The new oil depot is reported to be close to a stream which the North Vietnamese have dredged recently so that oil tankers can move out of Haiphong harbor and partway up the river where they discharge their loads of fuel drums into barges.

Food, Money Given To Mississippi Poor

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP) — One-thousand poor families received money and food baskets Sunday in Christmas project sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Recover More Bodies From Bridge Disaster

Sixteen Now Dead, Forty-One Missing For H-65

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — Working in a light rain, a water-borne crane probing the Ohio River's depths latched on to a crumpled car early today and brought up three more bodies in the grim search for victims of Friday's bridge collapse.

They brought to 16 the number of known dead. There were 41 persons reported missing.

The car was one of scores of vehicles that tumbled like play-toys off the bridge when the suspension span collapsed into the murky river.

The bodies of two adults and a child pried out of the car's twisted metal remains were taken to a temporary morgue in a state armory.

They were not immediately identified.

Sitting on a barge in the river, the crane also pulled up one huge chunk of the bridge superstructure this morning. It was placed on the barge. It was believed that superstructure pieces were being hauled up in an effort to reach vehicles trapped under the debris.

The 1,500-foot-wide section of the river between Ohio and West Virginia yielded eight bodies from four cars and a truck when the derricks pulled them out Sunday. The other five bodies were recovered Friday, a few hours after the suspension bridge collapsed under the weight of rush hour and Christmas shoppers' traffic.

Forecast of more than one inch of rain for the Point Pleasant area brought with it the fear that the river's level would rise and increase its current. This would seriously hamper divers in their efforts to reach cars crushed under the bridge's superstructure.

Of the 13 dead, only one remained unidentified. That was the body of a man taken from the cab of a trailer-truck yanked from the river Sunday afternoon.

The big 40-year-old bridge, a major link between the two states, crumpled into the Ohio River 80 feet below just after 5 p.m. Friday. The center span of the bridge disappeared, leaving only the approach ramps on both sides and concrete piers jutting above the river's surface.

Max Ray, a commercial deep sea diver from New Orleans, said that "you've got to worry about metal falling on you."

Ray spent several hours in the river's murky depths Sunday and said "it's real hairy and dangerous down there. You can't see your hand on the face plate of your mask. It's so dark, pitch black."

The tangled mass of the bridge's superstructure, lying atop the cars and trucks in 40 feet of water "is so shaky I could move the beams by hand. I dropped through the mess of steel and it started to slide," Ray said.

Another problem stemming from the disaster was that river traffic along the Ohio was choked and backed up for miles. Col. William D. Falck of the Army engineers estimated that 60,000 tons of cargo was stalled because the river was closed (See RECOVER, Page 4.)

Working To Gain Entry For Britain

BRUSSELS (AP) — Britain's friends in the European Common Market launched a two-day effort today to open negotiations on Britain's membership application. President Charles de Gaulle was expected to balk them again.

Foreign ministers or their representatives from all the member countries—West Germany, Italy, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—were assembled for the meeting of the Common Market Council. Britain was not invited.

Five of the six members want to start negotiations with Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark, and the sooner the better. Only France is opposed. But De Gaulle has insisted on keeping a veto for such matters, and the others have failed to budge him.

The five say they want a clear answer by Tuesday from the French on whether negotiations can start so that everyone can see who is responsible.

West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt has threatened to hold up action on a matter of vital interest to France, relations between the Common Market and Africa. Belgium is reported delaying an order for French Mirage planes to add to the pressure.

Chances are good for a compromise that would delay matters again, although the British say they want a clear answer too.

Beginning Jan. 1, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville becomes chairman of the council. Little progress can be expected for the six months he will hold the job. He was expected to stand firm today against setting a date for negotiations.

Jean Rey, president of the market's executive commission, predicted Friday that any crisis must end in three or four months with a compromise on the prospective new members.

"So why not save a crisis and make a package deal now?" he asked.

Well informed sources said he was working on a proposal. It could include the opening of talks without making clear if they were designed to lead to full membership for Britain or not.

Father Fought Back

Pack of Dogs Kills Two Boys

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — A pack of German shepherd dogs attacked and killed two small boys Sunday while their father fought futilely to save them by clubbing the animals with a rake.

The attack, near a creek behind the victims' home in nearby Madison Heights, included two neighborhood dogs the boys apparently had played with before.

The victims were Gene Anthony Goodman, 5, and Kenneth Goodman, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Goodman of Madison Heights.

Goodman and his wife are in Lynchburg General Hospital where they are being treated for shock.

Amherst County Sheriff-elect Mahlon H. Bryant said Goodman, sobbing, told him that when he reached the snarling pack he beat at the frenzied animals with a rake, his shoes and anything else he could find to turn them away from his bloodied sons.

Two of the dogs were impounded by local authorities. A third could not be caught and was shot to death. Police were looking for a fourth dog but said there may have been only three in the attack.

Bryant said Mrs. Goodman was inside her home at about 3:30 p.m. with her other child, Cindy, 1, when she heard screams from the creek. She called to her husband then ran to a neighbor's house for help.

"I was lying in bed when she knocked on the door," said Morton P. Scott. "My wife let her in

Mayor Airs Views On Urban Plans

By Peter F. Daniels
Sedalia Mayor Ralph Walker, when asked Monday about the position taken by the Missouri State Highway Commission on proposed Urban Improvement on Highway 65 from Ninth to the south city limits, said, "Some people are just being greedy, and you can quote me. You can't blame the Highway Commission for its attitude."

Last week, W. H. Dill, chief engineer of District Four of the Commission, informed Walker

U.N. Rushes To Adjourn By Tuesday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly went on a three-day schedule today, with morning, afternoon and night meetings, in an attempt to end its 22nd annual session by midnight Tuesday.

High on the assembly's program was the establishment of a 30-member special committee to try to draft a definition of aggression—something various U.N. bodies have been trying to do since 1950.

Main Political Committee, with two meetings lined up, drove toward a vote on eight resolutions on various aspects of disarmament.

Two of the resolutions were revised overnight in line with a weekend compromise agreement designed to prevent a 1968 conference of countries that don't have nuclear weapons from interfering with the general negotiations on a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

One of these resolutions called on the Geneva Disarmament Committee to report by March 15. The assembly would resume its session soon after to take up the report.

The resolution was amended to say the committee should consider the views stated in the current assembly—including, by implication, the demand of some countries not having nuclear weapons that the nuclear powers should give them security guarantees in return for their accepting the treaty.

The other resolution had called for a Geneva conference of nonnuclear countries March 11-April 10. The date was changed to next August and September.

Sight Gray Whales Migrating to South

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The first California gray whales migrating from the Bering Sea to breeding grounds in Baja California have been sighted off San Diego.

Rangers at the Cabrillo National Monument say they've sighted 17 whales. The whales once were in danger of extinction but are prospering under an international agreement which protects them from slaughter. They return north in March.

and she was crying said some dogs had her boys down by the creek.

"My daughter's a nurse and helped her back up to the house. I ran on over the hill and met Goodman coming up the hill all dazed. He was carrying one poor bloody little body and he said the dogs had the other boy down by the creek."

"I went down there and saw some dogs but I never did find the other boy," Scott said.

Rescue squadmen found the body later, Scott said, about 300 yards from the scene of the attack.

Dr. Jack Faulconer, Amherst County medical examiner, said the eldest boy died of loss of blood from severe lacerations all over his body.

the Commission had set a Feb. 1, 1968, deadline for acquisition of substantial rights-of-way along the segment of road in question.

He also said to Walker, in letter form, that unless rights-of-way were obtained the project might be dropped.

Walker said Monday he felt the deadline was justified. "The Highway Commission has given us every consideration. If the project fails, the consequences will fall directly on those people who are refusing to cooperate."

Walker said that the Urban Improvement project was approved by Sedalia voters in 1959. After some segments of the work were completed, it was found the city was short of funds and could not complete the South 65 project.

"That's when the Highway Commission came along and agreed to help the city by taking over, saving Sedalia the cost of another bond election," Walker said.

"I'm not surprised by the Commission's decision," Walker said. "We've been working a long time to get this thing settled."

The mayor said a meeting of property owners, the Highway Commission and mayor was held Nov. 1 at city hall. "About 80 people were there and there seemed to be quite a bit of enthusiasm then," Walker said.

He added that even now the city is making an effort to urge those property owners who have not reached an agreement with the Highway Commission to do so.

"The improvement is vital to the city," Walker said. "but you can't force people to sell and you can't blame the Highway Commission for wanting to drop it. I can't imagine why a businessman along that section would not agree."

It was at this point that Walker brought in the greed element. That statement seemed to support an opinion held by Dill. He said last Saturday that in Sedalia and (See MAYOR, Page 4.)

Road Accidents Fatal to Five In Missouri

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic accidents in Missouri over the weekend resulted in the death of five persons.

Four died in crashes Saturday. They were Horace Salyer, 43, and his wife, Marjorie, 41, of Independence, Mo.; Aubrey Mitchener, 36, of Naylor, Mo., and Philip Champion, 21, of Joplin.

The Salyers died when their car went out of control on I-70 on the eastern edge of Kansas City. Mitchener died in a three-vehicle collision south of Poplar Bluff. Champion was killed in a two-car collision near Joplin.

A pedestrian, Miss Ruth L. Hoffman, 52, Kansas City, suffered fatal injuries when she was struck by a car as she crossed a city street.

He said Floyd usually kept the dogs penned up but had let them run loose Sunday as they had occasionally in the past. Floyd also had given the Goodman children permission to play on his land and to play with the dogs, which they had many times before, Bryant said.

Floyd's dogs are in the custody of the Amherst County dog warden, Bryant says it will be up to the commonwealth's attorney and the courts to decide their fate.

Negotiations on Return Have Reached Deadlock

ATHENS (AP) — Negotiations between the Greek military junta and King Constantine over his return to the throne appeared deadlocked today after the Greek cabinet discussed the king's terms. There was no indication the military regime would accept them.

Informants said the 27-year-old king, who fled to Rome Thursday after unsuccessfully trying to start a counter coup against the junta, demanded immediate free elections and a halt to revision of the constitution.

The military dictators want the king back to give them a facade of legitimacy. But their terms included continued exile for Constantine's mother, Queen Frederika, and puppet status for the king.

Greek Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinelis and the Orthodox primate, Archbishop Ieronymos, conferred with Constantine at the Greek Embassy in Rome Saturday, and Pipinelis reported to Premier George Papadopoulos, the regime's strong man, immediately on his return.

The Cabinet held a 2½-hour meeting Sunday but made no announcement afterward.

Reliable sources said today the regime has retired five army generals, including the former defense minister, Gen. Gregory Spantidakis, and several other top officers accused of conspiring with the king. It was the second major purge in the armed forces since the April 21 coup in which a group of colonels overthrew the parliamentary government.

Spantidakis, who was in Brussels for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting during the attempted counter coup, now is in Rome with the king.

There has been speculation that the new constitution being prepared by the regime played a part in the king's attempt. Informants said the proposed document would strip the king of his power to appoint premiers and ministers and strengthen the executive branch of government over the legislature.

Minor Damage In Thunderstorm Here

Some television antennas, trees and tree limbs were blown down when a brief thunderstorm passed through Sedalia about 6 a.m. Monday. The storm was accompanied by high winds and hail.

Reports of a brief power outage in some sections of Sedalia could not be confirmed. Missouri Public Service officials said they had received no reports of any lines down, nor of power losses as a result of the storm.

One tree was blown down at Broadway and Grand, and Sedalia police received another report of a tree down at 14th and Missouri.

Many Sedalia streets were littered with loose gravel and tree branches of varying sizes. No major damage, however, was reported.

Lost in Surf

Holt Disappearance May Cause a Crisis

MELBOURNE, AUSTRIA (AP) — The disappearance of Prime Minister Harold E. Holt while swimming in the surf threatens Australia with political crisis and possibly the breakup of the coalition that has governed the country since 1949.

There was almost no hope that Holt could have survived the rip-tides that swallowed him up Sunday while he swam off Portsea, 37 miles south of Melbourne.

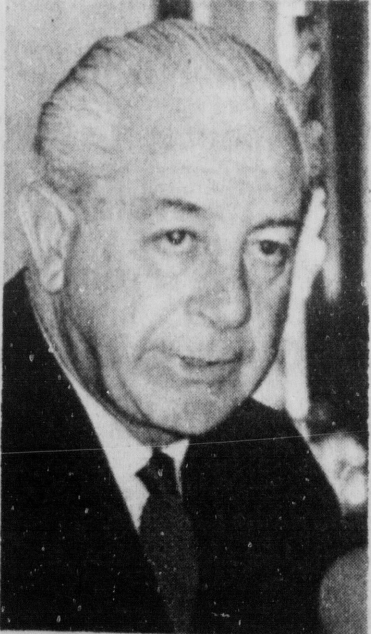

Bad weather forced suspension of the massive sea and air search today. The tides off Portsea have claimed three other swimmers in the last 10 years without yielding their bodies.

Deputy Prime Minister John McEwen, the leader of the Country party, took over the government helm until Holt's liberal party, the larger member of the coalition, elects a new party leader and prime minister.

Federal Treasurer William McMahon, the deputy party leader, was in line to succeed Holt. But observers in Canberra believed his election would drive the Country party out of the coalition because he and McEwen disagree on a number of key issues.

Defense Minister Allen Fairhall and Foreign Minister Paul Hasluck were also considered likely candidates for the Liberal leadership.

Governor-General Lord Casey

Harold Holt

Eggleton, told newsmen today: "We are all hanging onto a shred of hope that Mr. Holt is alive."

Holt, 59, was an excellent swimmer and skindiver. He was wearing swim trunks and beach shoes as he walked from his maroon Pontiac to his favorite "rock plunge" at noon Sunday. An old friend, Alan Stewart, walked out into the surf a good

New Vistas For Parker As Director

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Good luck on a brand-new career," reads a telegram thumbtacked to a wall in Fess Parker's dressing room. "Hope this is the first of many."

Parker's new career—that of directing as well as starring in a segment of his Daniel Boone television series—was thus saluted by his producer.

"I've been involving myself more and more in the writing and production and decided it was time to get my feet wet as a director," drawled television's onetime Davy Crockett.

Parker, now 43 and a millionaire businessman, is in his fourth year as Boone. Some stars of long-running series become bored, he said—"merely deliver the body and leave. Or—a series can open up new vistas."

Six-foot-six Fess Elisha Parker Jr. has been finding new vistas ever since he came out of the University of Texas to spark a fanatical hero worship among U.S. small fry in 1955-56 as Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier.

Kids wore so many coonskin caps like Davy's that the price of raccoon fur quadrupled in four months.

Merchandisers grossed nearly $50 million in Crockett clothes, guns, toys, etc. Parker's and 16 other recordings of the theme song sold eight million copies. Crowds up to 250,000 in Detroit besieged him on tours of U.S. cities and 13 foreign countries.

Parker tried to escape the frontier image with "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," 26 television episodes he now says "weren't too good. When I finally matured in this business I realized I should maximize my wonderful opportunity."

The maximizer of new vistas is a songwriter and recording star who has written a movie script that three major studios are considering. His company, Fespar Enterprises, Inc., is developing three movie properties and has a television series well along in the planning.

After a 10- or 12-hour work day, Parker changes from buckskins and boots to sports clothes from a $6,000 wardrobe that includes $250-suits and $30-shirts.

He drives home to his wife and two children in a Lincoln Continental sedan with saddle leather bucket seats specially tracked to accommodate his long legs.

The Parkers' Newport Beach residence is temporary. A pilot licensed to fly multiengine planes, Parker plans to commute 600 miles by helicopter to the $400,000-Spanish adobe he's building on 1 1/2 beachfront acres at Santa Barbara.

That city is where he owns a 338-unit mobile home park and plans to build another. He's on the board of regents of Santa Clara University. For relaxation he sails a 32-foot yacht and thumps a dressing room piano.

"Each area you move into," remarked the many-faceted Parker, "takes you one step farther into the next."

Self-Exiled King

Greek King Constantine and his wife, Queen Anne-Marie, were driven to a home of a close friend in Rome on Sunday, in one of many shuttles they have made, principally to the Greek Embassy, since their arrival Dec. 13. The king is reportedly uncertain as to whether he will return to his homeland under the junta's harsh terms. (UPI)

Missouri Pacific Railroad anticipates a four-percent gain in ton-miles during 1968 and also reports that anticipated earnings close to the level of the past five years enabled the railroad to make a better showing in 1967 than expected.

Earnings during 1967, the railroad said, will probably fall short of the record $26.7 million earned in 1966. The railroad also said it was too early to forecast net income for 1968.

The level of interest rates and their impact on business expansion, plus increased payroll and material costs and income taxes will probably affect the 1968 earnings figures, the MoPac report said.

Lodwick Trial Date Delayed Once Again

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Judge Kenneth R. Lewis of the Livingston County Circuit Court has disqualified himself from hearing the trial of John Lodwick Jr. former Clay County magistrate charged with embezzling county money.

Gene Voigts, Clay County prosecutor, said Lodwick's trial had been set for Jan. 8 but would have to be delayed until the Missouri Supreme Court appoints a special judge to hear the case.

The case was taken to Livingston County on a change of venue and has been held up by continuances.

Lewis was the Livingston County prosecutor when Lodwick's case was moved to that county. He was appointed circuit judge Nov. 1.

Lodwick was indicted by a Clay County grand jury in March, 1966, on a charge of embezzling $2,800 while he was a magistrate in 1961.

Check-Writing Explosion Threatens to Bury U.S.

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans wrote about 17 billion checks this year, an amount bankers seriously believe is close to the maximum that can be handled efficiently.

That, however, is only the beginning of the problem. It gets worse. Americans add another billion checks to that total each year, threatening to inundate the bill payment system in a flood of signatures.

How long can it go on? Nobody dares to guess, but some banking authorities feel the system of using checks is no more up to date than the Post Office. A vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, John Clarke, says the system originated as an improvisation and survives because of inertia.

If, as feared, this avalanche of paper does clog the arteries of commerce, alternatives must be ready. And, as has been publicized widely, the soundest alternative may be to substitute electronics for paper.

Instead of the signature paper being offered in payment, an electronic computer would be instructed to deduct a sum from the credit account of the purchaser and added to the account of the seller.

Such a system has been referred to as the checkless society, a term that becomes less popular as the advent of a new method of paying bills approaches.

Clarke is among those seriously studying this new method.

In his view, as described at a recent credit conference here, the less-check society—we might never have a checkless society, he feels—is now becoming technologically possible. To be implemented, however, it must be made attractive and rewarding to its users.

The reward, as he sees it, could be a discount to consumers who use the instant pay system. Such discounts for early payment already exist in the commercial world. The criterion is there.

The retailer would receive immediate use of the funds instead of waiting for the check to be deposited. He would save on bookkeeping costs. He would save on paper work. He would save time and energy.

The mechanics of the system might appear complex, but only because there is nothing with which to compare it. Basically, it would involve the use of high-speed communications wires and electronic computers.

These computers would be located throughout the country and filled with data on credit records, bank balances and other essential information regarding personal and business finance. In effect they would be utilities.

From the utilities would run communications lines to electronic devices at retail stores, banks, other commercial outlets and even private homes. And from these sites instructions would go to the computer to debit one account and credit another.

The transfer would merely be a bookkeeping one. No check or money would change hands. As a result, fewer checks would be used and the strain on banks would be relieved.

Foolproof methods of identification must be devised. Hardware must be developed to activate the computers. Legal safeguards against access to personal information must be developed.

The World Today Social Security Math is Complex

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Social Security benefit and tax scales—both up—add fuel to an argument about the retirement system that has been hot for some time and gets hotter as the average population gets younger.

Critics of the system say it is loaded against the young worker, that the wage earner starting out now or still in his early productive years is being taxed unfairly to pay benefits to those already retired or well on their way to retirement, who paid in much less.

Defenders say everyone, statistically speaking, stands to get a lot more out of Social Security than he puts in.

The mathematics involved are complex and the social and economic arguments finely drawn. Skipping the philosophical dispute, here is an effort to simplify the mathematics, rounding all figures:

Suppose a young man starts work Jan. 1, 1968, and continues until Jan. 1, 2013, at which time he is 65 and retires. Suppose further he starts out at $4,000 a year and gets annual raises of $1,000 until he passes the $7,800-a-year mark—the limit on which the payroll tax is levied.

Under the new rates, he would pay in a little less than $20,000 during his working life.

Of this total, however, almost $3,000 would have gone into medicare, giving him and his wife hospitalization rights in old age. Whether he ever actually recovered the equivalent of these contributions would, of course, depend on his and his wife's health.

Of the remaining $17,000 it is generally agreed that something must be charged off for the insurance value of Social Security during a man's working life.

If he had died leaving minor children, there would have been payments for them. If he had become disabled, he would have received payments.

Social Security values this insurance at 28 per cent of the contribution. Others put the figure as low as 20 per cent. Taking 25 per cent as a working figure reduces the $17,000 to $12,750 for retirement.

At the new benefit rates, the retired worker and his wife of the same age would receive $323 a month in 2013. So a couple would recoup the principal amount of the contribution in almost exactly three and a half years, or by the time they were 68½. An unmarried retired worker would take half again as long to do this.

Social Security actuaries say the life expectancy of a man who has reached 65 is 13½ years and that he can expect his wife to outlive him by five years.

These calculations don't take into account interest that might have been earned or capital gains that might have been realized by the worker if he had been able to keep and invest his Social Security contributions. But they also don't take into account the virtual certainty that Congress, which has made numerous changes in Social Security in the past 30 years, will make more during the next 45.

These probably will be in the direction of greater benefits, tending to give a mathematical break to the retired and the older active workers.

The calculations moreover don't take into account the employer's contributions, which are equal to those of the employees. These contributions provide the cushion enabling the system to broaden and, generally speaking, to pay the individual contributor more than he has put in.

Pettis County, the sums awarded property owners in a condemnation proceeding ran substantially higher than in neighboring counties.

Two businessmen were questioned about abandonment of the proposed improvement last Saturday. They did not agree entirely with Dill or Walker about the Commission's stand, even though both stressed the improvement was important to the area involved and that the project should not be dropped.

Jack Shoemaker, agent for Chipman Real Estate Co., which has reportedly reached an agreement with the Highway Commission, said he felt abandoning the project would be detrimental to the city.

He added that it was not the fault of property owners that rising costs resulted in an increased need for money to purchase rights-of-way, nor that the section of roadway in question had been left until last to complete.

Mike O'Connor, of O'Connor Chevrolet-Buick-GMC Co., said his firm had also reached agreement with the Highway Commission and was expecting a warranty deed in the near future. O'Connor added that he felt the Highway Commission had acted in a desultory manner and also that he did not believe the lack of cooperation cited by Dill.

The following list of individuals and businesses who have reached an agreement with the Highway Commission was furnished by Mayor Walker.

Right-of-way conveyances have been executed with Earl Thomas, Pete Drenas, June W. Brown, Richard J. Johnson, Kenneth Miller, Frank W. Moore, Charles H. The cars pulled from the water Sunday reflected the tremendous impact which existed when the span collapsed. All were torn and smashed. The engine dropped from one as it was lifted. The top of another, which held two bodies, was peeled off.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said traffic on Route 7, which parallels the river for miles, was backed up for 4½ miles Sunday afternoon. Troopers estimated the crowds of the curious at between 10,000 and 15,000. But all were kept away from the river's edge so as not to hamper the search.

U.S. Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., who represents the area, toured the site for a second time late Sunday and said the reason for the bridge's collapse "may never be known."

The congressman is making frequent trips here to speed up the federal aid process and act as a semi-official liaison with the White House.

distance behind Holt and watched him dive and disappear beneath the waves.

Stewart said the surf was too rough for him, and when the prime minister failed to surface, he ran to give the alarm.

Australians today accepted as fact that their prime minister had died in the sea he loved, and they were greatly saddened.

"Like President Kennedy he was not given time to show what he could do," said the Sydney Morning Herald. "The great tasks to which he set himself were unfinished. The war in Vietnam still rages. The withdrawal of Britain from the Far East has only just begun. Australia's relationship with her neighbors in Asia are still shadowy and undefined."

Holt had 692 days in office after taking over from Sir Robert Menzies. He stood staunchly by President Johnson's Vietnam policy, defending the bombing of North Vietnam and refusing to accept a settlement which would give victory to the Communists. Six thousand Australian troops are fighting with the allies in South Vietnam.

Very much the maker of his own foreign policy, Holt made two far-ranging tours through Asia, three to Britain and the United States, and attended the summit conference of Vietnam allies in Manila.

The Holt family—his wife, Zara, his three stepsons and their wives spent the night at the family's compound at Portsea.

At a Christmas carol program in Sydney's Hyde Park, a throng of 15,000 was shocked by the announcement of Holt's disappearance and bowed heads in silent prayer. One woman broke the silence with a loud sob. "My God, my God."

than in the previous days of the renewed assault, when only four to six of the Red interceptors would dart in and out of American formations.

In the five days of renewed aerial combat, the MIG pilots have downed three U.S. jets, while the Americans claimed only one "probable."

U.S. pilots logged 145 missions today, the largest number reported during the current weather break. The priority targets were the MIG airfields at Kep and Phuc Yen, the vital bridge complex between Hanoi and Haiphong, missile sites and the rail lines emanating from Hanoi and Haiphong.

Returning pilots reported widespread damage but detailed reports were withheld pending the study of reconnaissance photos.

The rest of the North Vietnamese air force—estimated at about 50 MIGs—normally stays in Red China with pilots flying them down for brief periods of combat.

GOOD FARMING with Lloyd Lewellen

Pettis County

GOOD FARMING Gasoline Tax

Gasoline used on the farm by farmers is entitled to tax refunds from the State and Federal Government. For the gasoline that qualifies there is 4 cents per gallon Federal gasoline tax credit to be gained on your income tax return. There is a 5 cent per gallon State gasoline tax refund if you ask for it before the ticket is one year old. Some farmers will likely forget this State gasoline tax refund and not file but once a year. Since you can make a claim for the Federal gasoline tax only once a year, it is easy to forget the State tax. No longer do you get a refund from the Federal Government but you will take credit for the 4 cent per gallon when you file your income tax.

Farmers are reminded that to get their State gasoline tax refund they must file before the tickets are one year old. The receipt must be the original copy and it must be marked paid and notarized.

HOG CHOLERA

Effective March 15, 1968, the use of Hog Cholera Vaccine will be discontinued in Missouri except in livestock markets on animals moving interstate where required by the state of destination.

Anti Hog Cholera Serum will be used on swine leaving Missouri markets for return to farms.

INCOME TAX MANAGEMENT

Many hands will be reaching for our income dollars during the new few weeks—including Santa Claus and Uncle Sam. While each is entitled to his fair share, it is up to us, individually, to make sure that he gets no more.

The first step in tax management is to summarize your records for the year thus far and add on estimated income and expenses for December. Then, subtract total expenses and depreciation from total receipts to get your prospective net farm profit—to which you should add net income from all other sources to determine your adjusted gross income for 1967. Now, you may subtract the sum of your exemptions ($600 each) and your personal deductions (10 per cent of your adjusted gross income for quick figuring) to determine your taxable income for the year.

If this taxable income estimate is considerably above the average for your operation and you wish to minimize your tax payments on 1967 income, you still have time for some tax management procedures, even though maximum benefits can be realized only through year-around tax management. Here are a few things you still may have to do.

Increase expenditures in December for items needed in next year's operations, such as prior purchase of fertilizer, feed, seed, and other supplies.

Hire land improvement and soil conservation work done in December, if weather permits, such as terracing, outlets, diversions, clearing, drainage and other practices.

Such expenditures are now fully deductible from income in the year completed, up to 25 per cent of your gross income from farming during the year.

Claim the 20 per cent additional depreciation on machinery and other qualified personal property purchased during the year.

Increase your investment credit deductions (which may be subtracted directly from taxes computed) by purchasing needed machinery and other qualified facilities before December 31; and if you file by the cash method, you may delay the sale of some livestock, grain, and other products until after December 31.

Please keep in mind, however, that most of these efforts to reduce taxable income for 1967 may increase the income on which you pay taxes in 1968 and later years. This requires careful evaluation of your prospective income for next year as compared to this.

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK 1968

The Agricultural Outlook for 1968 indicates some improvement over the unfavorable situation that has prevailed in 1967. Realized net income, income above production expenses, for 1967 is estimated at $14.8 bil. or 10 per cent below 1966. This decrease was due to lower prices for both crops and livestock and some reduction in government payments to farmers.

The realized gross farm income in 1968 is expected to be near $50 bil. or one bil. above the $49 bil. in prospect for 1967.

Cash receipts from farm marketings in 1968 are expected to be about 2 per cent above 1967. Government payments to farmers may be 5 to 10 per cent above the $3.1 bil. in 1967.

Production expenses which increased nearly 3 per cent during 1967, will continue to increase in 1968. Therefore, net farm income will be about the same or slightly higher in 1968 than during the past year.

The total feed grain supply for 1967-68 is estimated at 213 mil. tons, about 7 per cent larger than last year but slightly below the 1961-65 average. Prices are expected to average near loan rates or about 15 per cent less than during the past year. The total supply high protein feeds available for feeding in 1967-68 is now expected to be approximately 3 per cent more than during the past 12 months. Prices will average some lower.

Cattle inventories probably were reduced again in 1967, the third year of reduction following seven years of buildup. Inventories are expected to change very little during 1968 with a small decrease most likely. Prices for fed cattle are expected to average a little higher in 1968 than in 1967. Feeder calves should average about the same to slightly higher. Fed cattle prices are expected to be $1-2.00 per cwt. higher during the first quarter of 1968 and the same to $1 higher during the last three quarters as compared to 1967.

Hog slaughter is expected to be larger and prices lower in 1968 than in 1967. The average price in 1968 for barrows and gilts will probably be $1-2.00 per cwt. below 1967.

U.S. Milk production in 1968 is expected to be slightly below the 120 bil. lbs. estimated for 1967. The long-run trend of fewer milk cows and greater production per cow will continue. Dairy farmers are expected to receive about the same or slightly higher prices and gross receipts to be about the same as in 1967. Feed cost should be some lower.

Not an Endorsement

The chain of communication plays a vital role in holding out fast-paced, superdynamic civilization together, but it can also be something of a hazard. Seems we got tripped by it recently.

Some weeks back, widespread news reports alleging "endorsement" by the National Council of Churches of a government-financed report on drinking by young people stirred something of a furor. We thought it proper grist for the editorial mill and added our few words worth.

It appears, however, that the NCC did not actually endorse the report, only noted it was being given "serious study" and recommended that "others do likewise."

The news agencies have corrected their original inaccurate reports on the report and we herewith add our link to the chain.

U.S. Press Freedom Confuses Asians

—OAS Official Fired—

On Nov. 26 Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that one of the top OAS lobbyists for a new Secretary General was Luis Raul Betances. OAS administrative director, despite the fact that OAS officials were forbidden to try to influence the election. Betances, it was reported, had been decorated by Panama and was lobbying for the Panamanian ambassador.

On December 1 Betances was suspended by the OAS.

By DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Freedom of the press and the efficiency of diplomacy are clashing in Vietnam. American diplomats appear frustrated and furious over American newspaper stories, and have complained in dispatches to Washington that the U.S. press seems to be working against them. The press alienates sensitive Asian leaders faster than the diplomats can placate them, it is alleged.

What happens is that Asian leaders read the American newspapers and news magazines avidly and seize upon the slightest insult, real or fancied, to blow up a storm. Diplomats are convinced that it was the American press which turned both Prince Sihanouk of Cambodia and Ne Win of Burma against the United States.

Prince Sihanouk has bitterly resented glib press descriptions of him as "mercurial" and "volatile." References to his saxophone-tootling, playboy past have turned him purple with rage.

One reason why the State Department encouraged Jacqueline Kennedy to visit Cambodia was to mellow Sihanouk toward the United States. But State Department diplomats claim that American newsmen took advantage of Sihanouk's new leniency to do some snooping. They discovered what they claimed was a vacated Viet Cong camp inside Cambodia. Angrily, Sihanouk returned to his rigid, anti-American stance and thereafter barred all U.S. newsmen from his country.

General Ne Win of Burma was also softening toward America when he read a recent issue of Time Magazine which incorrectly reported that he was isolating himself from the public and that the U.S. was supplying him with counter-insurgency weapons in violation of his neutrality policy. Like Sihanouk, the General immediately hardened again toward Washington.

—Irked King of Thailand—

Even Thailand's King Bhumibol, strongly pro-American, has got his back up at times over U.S. press reports. He was incensed, for example, over stories that he had been afraid to step out of helicopter during a set-down in the troubled Northeast region of his country. Actually, he had started out boldly from the helicopter, but his security guards pleaded with him to come back.

He was furious, too, over press descriptions of his troops in Vietnam as "mercenaries." Actually they are poorly-paid soldiers, many of them draftees, from the regular Thai Army. The king was also upset over embarrassing — and inaccurate — news reports that U.S. planes were bombing Communist positions inside Thailand.

Asian leaders, who largely control their own press, have difficulty separating U.S. news accounts from official pronouncements. They also haven't developed the American politicians' tough skin regarding press criticism. Result: A news story such as Time's recent report on Burma can actually cause a setback in diplomatic relations.

In this case, Time told of the reported shipments of U.S. counter-insurgency weapons to Burma and the presence of a mission to train Burmese pilots. Time added that the United States was not anxious to get bogged down in Burma, declaring: "The country's rapid rate of deterioration makes South Vietnam seem almost a model of stability."

The story was lifted straight out of the Far Eastern Economic Review, which published it under the byline of Peter Boog. He is described in diplomatic dispatches as a news stringer who worked for several years in Burma and moved recently to Hong Kong.

The truth is that no U.S. shipments of counter-insurgency weapons have been requested by Burma nor are any anticipated. Furthermore, General Ne Win was touring Burma, mingling with his people first in Northern Burma then in Southern Burma, during the period Time Magazine reported he "had not been seen in public."

While such inaccuracies would hardly disturb a U.S. politician, the article outraged Ne Win and seriously damaged American-Burmese relations.

—Capitol News Capsules—

Ungrateful guest — The American Embassy in Zambia gave a party honoring South African folk singer Miriam Makeba, who has appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show and other TV broadcasts in this country. Immediately after the party in her honor, Miss Makeba headed straight for Tanzania to appear on the same platform with the black power rabble-rouser, Stokely Carmichael, where she sang anti-American, pro-Communist songs. The rally was so viciously anti-American and stirred up such anti-American sentiment that 12 American passengers aboard a ship in port were warned it would be dangerous for them to go ashore.

Letter to Editor

MISSY KNIGHT (1501 South Missouri) — I am a ten-year-old going on 11. I am writing in to complain about St. Nick. If you'd been at the Sedalia Christmas parade you would have seen a stranger (to the children), Santa Claus was in an old gray sweat shirt. A child's dream is Santa Claus with a red suit, a jolly smile, black boots, rosy cheeks and a bag full of toys flung over his back. Many mothers in Sedalia are mad over the way Santa was dressed for the parade. Do you think the real Santa wears an old gray sweat shirt? Disgusting! He looked like a clod that needed a shave and a haircut. Disgusting!

A 'Crime-In' Unlikely

No door is more firmly locked to Negroes than the one that leads to the halls of power in organized crime, reports the Wall Street Journal. The Mafia is definitely not an Equal Opportunity Employer.

"A black man's got a better chance of being elected mayor of Selma than of makin' it into the big money with the Syndicate," the paper quotes a Brooklyn Negro as grumbling.

Since they can hardly go to their local human relations commission with a charge of job bias, and since complaining to the boss can result in being measured for a cement overcoat, Negro hoods have to be contented with such menial positions as numbers runners or narcotics pushers.

This is one instance of discrimination which is not likely to move Negroes to stage a protest demonstration—a "crime-in," perhaps. But the situation is not as amusing as it might seem.

According to crime experts, a big share

Chaplain's Reply to Viet Critics

By RAY CROMLEY, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

One thing that deeply bothers GIs back from Vietnam is the cynical attitude of some Americans toward what they've risked their lives to accomplish.

Typical is the thinking of a Navy chaplain who writes:

"I spent eight months in the combat zone with a group of men who literally worked themselves to death on humanitarian projects. We built roads, a hospital, dug water wells and did countless acts of civic improvement, such as working with Catholic and Protestant orphanages.

"Then, returning to the U.S.A., I find . . . questions like, 'Are you still burning innocent villages and shooting civilian women and children?'

"I'm sick to death of battlefield experts who have never left home, and of mushy Christians who have never been to an area where to believe in Christ means torture and death . . . Let them go over and talk to the refugees from China and North Vietnam, and I'll talk with them.

"May God have mercy on these political and military experts who debate in a classroom and never get more than a hundred miles from home. May God have mercy on us all for condemning so easily and commending so slowly . . .

"What frightens me is that our people are not getting a good and true picture of the Vietnamese conflict, even though I'm sure it is the best-covered news event in history. When I tell people . . . that the Communists . . . savagely blew up our hospital and maimed our men with ambushes, no one wants to listen . . .

"I hear continued criticism of our presence in Asia and continual harping to withdraw . . . Why isn't there more condemnation of the raping, looting, burning and the hell the Communists are spreading south of the demilitarized zone?

"When I tell folks back here about the work the boys are doing there—building, teaching, healing and cleaning—I get a sweet smile, a knowing look, and a reply something like this: 'Oh, yes, it is wonderful what our boys are doing. But don't you think these people are just taking advantage of us, and they really aren't in favor of us being there, and wouldn't they be just as happy and well off under the Communists?'

"The first several times I heard this, I was too surprised to reply. Then I was too mad to talk. Now I want to go into a corner and weep!

"How stupid can we get?

"I know that this war is a terrible thing . . . I know that . . . Oh, Lord, how well do I know this—as does anyone who has been there for a few months.

"But how would you like to have someone say to you, 'Let them go, don't help, they will be happy under communism!' It's an old truism that if we sit here smugly in our freedom and not help others preserve theirs, we wouldn't have ours very long! We're so smart we know this, but we are so dumb we don't want to do anything about it.

"There is no doubt in my mind that this is the 'Good-Samaritan Parable War!' We've got bruised and bleeding South Vietnamese desperately in need of help. And a lot of Americans fear getting involved by stopping to help. The thing that breaks my heart is that, having been one of the many who did stop and try to help a little, I straighten up and turn around, looking for our church to help—and I don't find it! What's wrong with being on the side of freedom?

"I think the thing that burns the soul of every soldier is to come home and hear some . . . comfortable (man) . . . denounce our country's policy, and spout off about a war . . . he has no first-hand knowledge of."

More people ought to be saying "well-done" to the men we send to Vietnam.

THE WELL CHILD ®

Child Should Outgrow Bad Dreams, Night Terrors

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

A mother writes that her daughter, 3, has been crying out in her sleep almost every night. Night terrors in children are most often seen between the ages of 3 and 8. These children are often nervous and high-strung or sickly. The most important steps a parent can take are to make the child's waking environment as calm as possible and, with the help of a pediatrician, get her in good physical condition. When she cries out at night the mother should go to her, get her to tell what was frightening her, then reassure her that it was all a bad dream and that everything is all right. With this treatment the child should outgrow these spells in time.

Q—My 18-month-old son gets bloodshot eyes from time to time. What causes this?

A—The most common cause is infection. If the inflammation accompanies a head cold it will clear up as the cold goes away. If he has no cold, allergy is a possibility. Soap in his eyes is another. You should consult your pediatrician to determine the exact cause so that the proper treatment can be prescribed.

Q—Two of my six children like to eat dirt. Is this harmful? Do they lack some vitamin or element of nutrition?

A—Maybe they have heard the old wives' tale that every child must eat a peck of dirt and they want to get it over with. This is not a good idea, however, because who can tell what germs or poison may be present in a random sample of dirt? A lack of iron is a more likely cause than a lack of vitamin. Iron dextran complex (Imferon) or iron sorbital citric acid (Jectofer) have cured many children who have a bizarre taste for dirt due to an iron deficiency. Both drugs require a doctor's prescription.

Oswald: "Here is a letter from Prof. Nathan Divinsky of Vancouver, Canada. Dr. Divinsky reached five clubs and made it after East won the diamond opening and shifted to a trump. South ran off seven clubs and West hung on to the king of diamonds and four spades while East let all his diamonds go. Then a diamond lead established a diamond trick in declarer's hand, and he discarded two hearts on dummy's good spades. The professor wonders just how East and West could find out about the spade situation?"

Jim: "It is always particularly difficult to find out that a threat suit is no threat because it can't be led, but this time East-West might have found out. West should drop the three of diamonds on the third club and East the deuce. On the fourth club, West should discard the 10 of hearts and East the eight of diamonds."

Oswald: "In such situations each partner must trust the other implicitly. East will know West started with exactly five diamonds, and West will know that East started with four. With an original six diamonds, West would discard a diamond on the fourth club. With three diamonds only, East would have discarded down and out and his play of the eight denied any lower diamond. Hence each would know that declarer could not hold more than two spades and hearts."

Jim: "On the fifth club West should have let the five of spades go. This should inform East that West was still holding three spades, whereupon East should drop his queen of spades."

Oswald: "This would require a lot of intestinal fortitude on the part of East. He would know that if West had started with three hearts and three spades, he would have thrown a second heart."

Jim: "It sure is easy when you see all the cards. Actually, I wonder if any pairs would be able to do this well at the table."

QUICK QUIZ

Q—How did whisky become known as "booze"?

A—It originated from the fact that bottles produced by a glass factory in Glassboro, N.J., were filled by a Philadelphia distiller named E. C. Booz. The bottles became known as "Booz" bottles and eventually "booze" crept into the American language as a synonym for whisky.

Q—What is the life span of an oak tree?

A—An oak takes 20 years to mature its seed, and its average life is 200 to 300 years.

Court to Consider 1866 Housing Law

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a two-part series on the Missouri Commission on Human Rights and its work in the field of open housing. This part will deal with the future of open housing in Missouri and possible court action affecting the problem.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — A Missouri lawsuit, now before the United States Supreme Court, may be the brightest hope for proponents of a fair housing statute in Missouri and throughout the country.

The court two weeks ago agreed to hear the appeal of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee Jones of St. Louis after their suit against the Alfred H. Mayer Co. of St. Louis was dismissed by the U.S. District Court there.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones, a biracial couple, contend that the Mayer company violated the Civil Rights Act of 1966 and the thirteenth and fourteenth amendments to the Constitution.

Papers filed in the suit said that the Joneses sought to buy a house in the Paddock Woods subdivision of St. Louis County in 1965, but that the developer turned them down because Jones, a bail bondsman, was a Negro.

The Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit affirmed the District Court dismissal but offered theories under which the case could be reversed, and the Supreme Court granted review.

In dismissing the suit, the District Court held that the 1866 law and the constitutional amendments covered state action only and not private discrimination. It was on this basis that the Supreme Court in 1883 invalidated a series of civil rights acts which in large part were incorporated back into law by the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The 1964 act, however, based its authority on the commerce power of Congress — to regulate discrimination in public accommodations which are engaged in interstate commerce.

The court has never held that a federal statute which regulates state discriminatory action would apply to private discrimination, although this argument has been made to the court on several occasions.

There are three ways by which the Supreme Court can reverse the holding in the Jones case. The first would be to hold that the 1866 act was enacted solely under the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution and, therefore, has no "state action" limitation. The thirteenth amendment, in abolishing slavery, gives base to the argument that Congress, in abolishing slavery, also abolished any badge of slavery, including housing discrimination, in any form by any individual.

This would probably be an unlikely route, since the court would have to directly overturn more laws and authorities than by any other alternative.

The second alternative would be to accept the enactment of the 1866 act under the fourteenth amendment and broaden the concept of "state action," contending that a housing developer should be in a different category than a private homeowner and that the effect of his discrimination would be to exclude Negroes from an entire community.

The third route would be to follow the pattern of the court in a previous case and say that Congress wanted the 1866 act to proscribe the actions of private individuals. This, too, is unlikely since this is the theory by which recent congressional legislation on open housing was defeated.

Yet Professor William P. Murphy, a member of the Missouri Commission on Human Rights and a teacher of constitutional law at the University of Missouri School of Law has said that if the Supreme Court were in agreement with the decisions made by the lower courts, they would have refused to accept this case.

If the court does rule for the Joneses in this case, it would mean that there has been a federal fair housing law in existence for more than 100 years.

The Jones case not only furnishes a bright outlook for fair housing; it may be the only practical and immediate solution to the problem. A fair housing bill was introduced in the last session of the Legislature, but was killed in both houses.

State Rep. Raymond Howard (D-St. Louis) has urged Gov. Hearnes to include a fair housing bill in his legislative program for the coming special session of the Legislature, but it is doubtful that the governor will heed this call. Not only must the Legislature handle the governor's $1.2 billion annual budget, it must consider several other proposals which the governor might recommend within the 60-day time limit.

The Legislature can only consider bills which the governor includes in his special session call and Hearnes has indicated that, because of the limited time, he will not recommend any legislation which would not stand a good chance of passing.

But Rep. Howard, who said he was acting on behalf of all 12 Negro members of the Legislature, told the governor that lack of adequate housing for Negroes was a "legitimate and immediate concern of the state." He has said there would be little chance of such legislation being passed without the governor's support.

Action by the Supreme Court would not preclude legislative action by the state, but a favorable result in the Jones case could take some of the pressure off of legislators — who also were more inclined to wait until after the 1964 Civil Rights Act before they passed their own public accommodations law. Congress is considering a 1967 Civil Rights Act, including a fair housing provision.

But the only immediate hope lies with the Supreme Court — and reversal in the Jones case may be too great a step at one time.

"My legs aren't too great, but with these new stockings, at least, they're COLORFUL!"

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old girl who is away at college. This is my freshman year. Guess what I received this morning from my mother. Today is my birthday and I knew she would not forget. When I opened the box I almost keeled over. Birth control pills!

I am not only shocked but deeply hurt. What does my mother think I am doing here anyway? I have no use for these pills and, furthermore, I consider this gift a vote of no confidence.

Attached to the bottle was a note which read: "Yoy may not need these, but here they are in case..."

What do you think of a mother who would send her daughter such a gift? Please give me your opinion because I am awfully upset. My first inclination was to send them back. Should I? — Class of '71

Dear Class: Yes. Tell your mother you have no use for the pills and you're sorry she wasted her money.

As for what I think of a mother who would send her 18-year-old daughter such a gift — I'll say it in two words. Very little.

Dear Ann Landers: Why don't you quit kidding the public? I am sick and tired of you newspaper columnists who insist on using pictures that are 20 years old. I happen to know that you have three grandchildren. So either come clean and let us see what you really look like or drop that mug shot altogether. — NEW YORK POST READER

Dear N.Y.: The picture that runs with my column was taken six months ago. I hope your retouch artist did not lift my sagging chin or remove the lines in my face. They are my credentials for living and I have earned them.

Dear Ann Landers: How do other wives deal with this problem? I can't be alone in this.

My husband and I go to a party — either at a club or the home of friends or relatives. George says hello to everyone, heads for the liquor and belts down four martinis. He becomes loud, raucous and sometimes obscene — telling a couple off-color jokes. Then suddenly he announces he is going into the other room because "it's too hot in here."

He then disappears and after a while a friend goes to check on him. The report is that good old George is asleep on the bed or couch or the floor.

He refuses to eat before we leave the house because it "takes the edge off" and he doesn't want to "miss anything." Consequently, he misses out on everything. Occasionally one or two of the men in our social group gets tanked on New Year's Eve, but nobody we know gets dead drunk every time he goes to a party. What do you have to say about this? — ACCOMPANIED BUT ALONE

Dear A: Your husband's desire to get smashed as quickly as possible indicates he is uncomfortable with people and wishes to escape.

As for what you can do about it, the answer is — not a pea pickin' thing. Nobody ever solved a booze problem for a second party. Only when your husband realizes he has a problem can something be done about it. So, my dear, endure what you cannot cure.

Gabriel Outshines Unitas In Contest

Fires For Three TD's

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Unitas spent an endless hour hurrying in the wrong direction ... and watching Los Angeles turn the National Football League's Coastal showdown into a Roman carnival.

Roman Gabriel, the Rams' strong-armed quarterback, eclipsed superstar Unitas Sunday by firing three touchdown passes as Los Angeles drubbed the previously unbeaten Baltimore Colts 34-10 for the Coastal Division title.

While Gabriel connected on 18 of 22 passes for 257 yards—to the delight of 77,277 revelers in the Los Angeles Coliseum—the Rams' defense hurried Unitas into two costly interceptions and dropped the NFL's Most Valuable Player seven times for losses totaling 48 yards.

"The crux of our defensive plan for this game," said LA Coach George Allen, "was not to allow Unitas enough time to throw the ball."

The Rams' Fearsome Foursome—Lamar Lundy, Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen and Roger Brown—followed Allen's plan to the letter.

In snapping Baltimore's 13-game unbeaten streak, the Rams extended their own winning string to eight games and advanced into next Saturday's Western Conference championship playoff against Green Bay's Central Division kings.

Los Angeles and Baltimore tied 24-24 in their first meeting and finished in an 11-1-2 deadlock. The Rams, however, got the title nod by virtue of their point edge in the two games against the Colts.

The Packers, who nailed the Central crown three weeks ago, were upset by Pittsburgh 24-17 Sunday. New York pounded St. Louis 37-14. New Orleans stunned Washington 30-14. Philadelphia toppled Cleveland's Century champs 28-24. Chicago beat Atlanta 23-14 and Detroit trimmed Minnesota 14-3 in other games.

Dallas' Capitol Division winners, who meet Cleveland for the Eastern Conference championship next Sunday, bowed to San Francisco 24-16 Saturday.

In Sunday's American Football League action, Oakland belted New York 38-29. Miami outscored Boston 41-32 and Kansas City trimmed Denver 28-14. Houston topped San Diego 24-17 Saturday.

Trailing 7-3 early in the second quarter, the Rams took charge on Gabriel's 80-yard scoring strike to Jack Snow and 23-yard TD pass to Bernie Casey. The second score followed Ed Meador's interception of a Unitas pass, thrown while Jones was draped over the Colt quarterback's shoulders.

Los Angeles boosted its lead to 20-7 in the third quarter on Bruce Gossett's second field goal. After Lou Michaels booted a three-pointer for the Colts, Gabriel capped a 67-yard drive with a nine-yard payoff pitch to Billy Truax.

The Rams' final touchdown, scored by Dick Bass from two yards out, came after Unitas was dropped at his own four-yard line for an eight-yard loss on fourth down.

"We played our best game of the year and put everything together," Allen said. "Green Bay? I'd like to enjoy Baltimore first."

End Ben McGee rambled 21 yards with a deflected Green Bay pass for one touchdown and tackle Chuck Hinton plodded 27 yards with a recovered fumble for another score as Pittsburgh's defensive unit wrecked the Packers, who substituted freely in their final pre-playoff tune-up.

New York's Fran Tarkenton tossed four touchdown passes—two to Aaron Thomas—as the Giants overpowered injury-plagued St. Louis and captured second place in the Century race.

The Saints nailed Washington punt returner John Love for a third-quarter safety, breaking a 7-7 tie, and struck again 19 seconds later on Randy Schultz' one-yard TD plunge following Walter Roberts' 68-yard free kick runback.

Defeat Detroit

Comeback Enjoyed By Missouri Fans

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas and Kansas State regained confidence in the Sunflower doubleheader while Missouri continued its comeback with a victory at Detroit Saturday night in Big Eight basketball, but other league clubs suffered the road miseries.

Kansas, the pre-season title favorite, followed up its victory over Cincinnati with an impressive 78-52 conquest of Texas A&M. K-State pushed potent Cincy to the last minute of overtime before losing 58-56 and Coach Tex Winter was pleased with his team's "valiant effort."

Missouri, led by 6-foot-4 Tom Johnson, a high school teammate of Jo Jo White of Kansas, rallied to win 74-68 at Detroit for a 3-2 record. Johnson, a crowd-pleasing lefthander, scored 21 points.

Oklahoma State was nipped by Texas in the last two seconds, 56-54 at Stillwater. Oklahoma was pounded 94-76 by Loyola at Los Angeles, and Colorado lost 83-79 at Arizona State.

Big Eight teams still have a 28-19 won-lost record against outside foes, thanks chiefly to an 18-5 mark at home and a 7-2 record against Southwest Conference clubs.

The Big Eight has losing marks against the Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Pacific Eight and Western Athletic conferences, and most of its games this week are against teams from those four leagues. In addition, only seven of the 17 games on this week's card are on Big Eight home courts.

On tonight's card, Colorado is at Arizona, 4-2. Missouri is host to Northwestern, 3-1. Stanford plays at Kansas and Washington at Oklahoma State.

Later in the week, unbeaten Wyoming, 5-0, plays at Oklahoma and Nebraska. Kansas plays at Louisville and St. Louis. Northwestern is at Colorado. Iowa State at DePaul and Missouri and OSU go west for games.

The Big Eight picture is so scrambled now that the worst record is 3-3 and the best is 4-2. Kansas still deserves the favorite's role.

Loyola's Paul Deyden held OU's Don Sidle to just eight points and the Lions rolled up a 50-33 halftime bulge. Colorado got 25 points from Pat Frink, who nearly pulled it out with two late 30-foot goals.

K-State was down by seven points with 5:45 left but tied it 54-44 on Steve Honeycutt's 15-footer just before the final gun. It was still 54-54 when Cincy's 6-9 Rock Roberson stole the ball and scored a layup with 45 seconds left in overtime. Winter insisted it was an illegal dunk shot.

Jeffries Is New Owner Of Crown

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) — The new champion of Grand Bahama auto racing is Tony Jeffries, a slender South African who is a mechanic by trade, and a man who dreams of becoming the road racing champion of the world.

Fighting off an early challenge from Americans and a late rush by a pack of Austrians, the 26-year-old Jeffries roared to victory Sunday in the Grand Prix of Formula V and carried off his biggest jackpot in six years of racing, a $10,000 prize.

When he won by the close margin of 17 seconds over the Austrian Formula V champion, Dieter Quester, the black-haired South African knew he had been in a fight every inch of the way.

John Ryan of Griffin, Ga., gave Jeffries a battle for 100 miles and then the Austrians moved up to his tailpipe to push him for the last 100.

"The Americans drive too hard," said Jeffries, who calls Johannesburg his home but works for Capital Motors, a garage in Pretoria. "I had to set a faster pace than I thought would be necessary."

"If this had been a sprint race, an American would have won. But in a race of this length, they push too hard," Jeffries said.

The Austrians pushed hard, too, in the stretch run, but Jeffries survived with trouble-free performance from a car he helped design.

In a race so close that less than a minute separated the first five cars at times, Jeffries took the checkered flag of victory 17 seconds before the arrival of Quester at the finish line.

Right behind Quester came two more Austrians, Jochen Rindt and Dr. Jelmut Marko.

Ryan, plagued by mechanical troubles after his great drive in the first half of the race, held on to take fifth. Switzerland's champion, Werner Muller, was sixth and another Austrian, Gunther Huber, was seventh.

In the first 25 laps, when Ryan passed him twice, Jeffries set a fast pace of better than 67 miles an hour.

Then, Ryan's troubles ended the American threat and yellow caution flags warned of dangerous oil slicks on the course. Jeffries eased off. His average for the route was 64.857 m p h

MIAA Title Defense Is Opened By Springfield

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield State opened defense of its MIAA basketball crown with an important road victory Saturday night while Drury stayed unbeaten and in a tie with Tarkio for the MCAU lead by beating Culver-Stockton, its nemesis last year.

Among the independents, Rockhurst regained Jim Healey, out all season with a broken hand, and he pumped in 25 points in a 105-75 victory over Pittsburg State, ending a five-game Rockhurst losing spell.

Springfield, beaten only by top-ranked San Diego State and Pepperdine, ran its MIAA victory streak to 22 games with a 79-70 victory at Maryville State. Lou Shepherd, who had 23 points, put the winners ahead to stay, 59-58.

Kirkville won at home over Warrensburg, 81-79, getting all 11 of its overtime points at the free throw line. Ken McBride led the winners with 22 points.

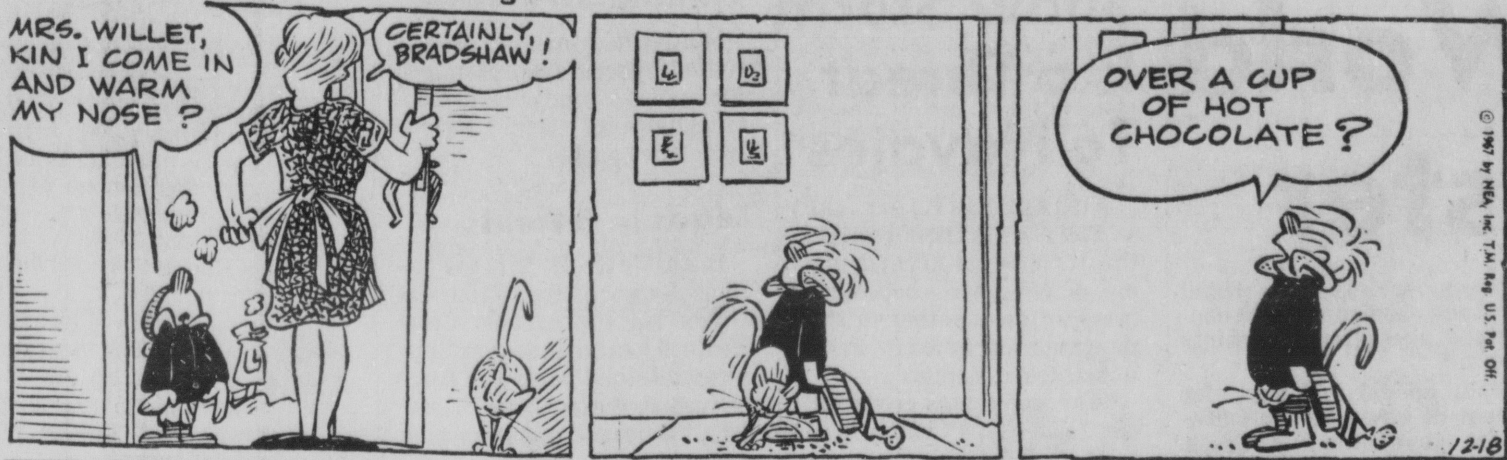

Cape Girardeau handed Rolla Mines its first defeat of the season, 57-55. From a 51-all tie with 5:30 left, Cape spurred ahead 57-51.

Drury missed the MCAU crown last year because of a loss to Culver in the last 12 seconds. Gail Fredrick scored 28 and Virgle Fredrick in Drury's 89-88 victory, making its record 2-0 in the MCAU and 7-1 for all games.

Teach Child to Write Own Thank-you Notes

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Teaching children to write thank-you notes can be a problem, and with Christmas coming most mothers will be faced with it again. I have found an easier way with my youngest boy. I bought a name stamp for him. He puts this on a plain sheet of paper which he has folded in half for his very own personal thank-you notes. This makes the job more interesting for this one as my other boys thought letter writing was just for girls.—FLORENCE

DEAR POLLY—Children just do not like to write letters. To solve the problem, get pretty picture post cards that show your city or any other nearby places of interest. Rule pencil lines on them and have the child write just two or three sentences as thank-you notes for gifts. They can be quickly done, before interest lags. Grandparents, other relatives and especially cousins their own age love them. Good habits are more easily established in a pleasant way.—MARY E.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I hope one of the girls can tell me how to prevent mildew. When our house was recently remodeled the small closets were sheetrocked on the inside and now some of our clothes have mildew on them.—LOUISE

DEAR POLLY—My suggestion is for newlyweds who may not have decorations for their first Christmas tree. If the bride has saved the bows from her shower and wedding gifts they can be used as very impressive ornaments. We used only tree lights and different-colored bows as ornaments. With a needle and thread, run through the bow to make a loop for the hanger. Two small bows could even be tacked together. The variation in types, colors and sizes make a most decorative first tree.—A NEWLYWED

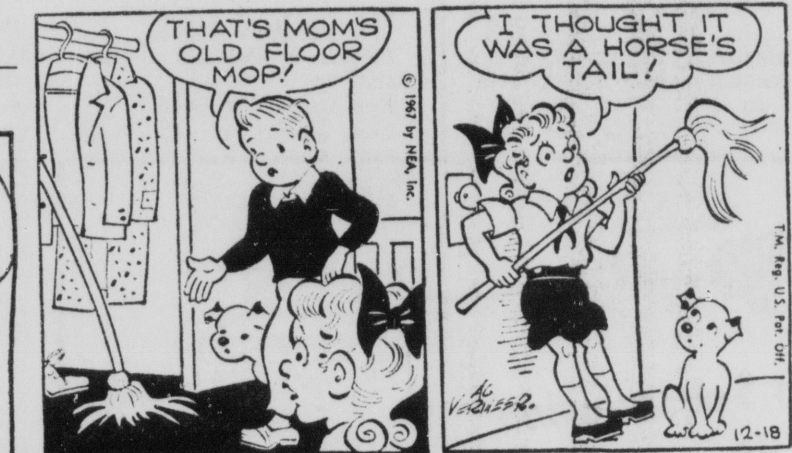

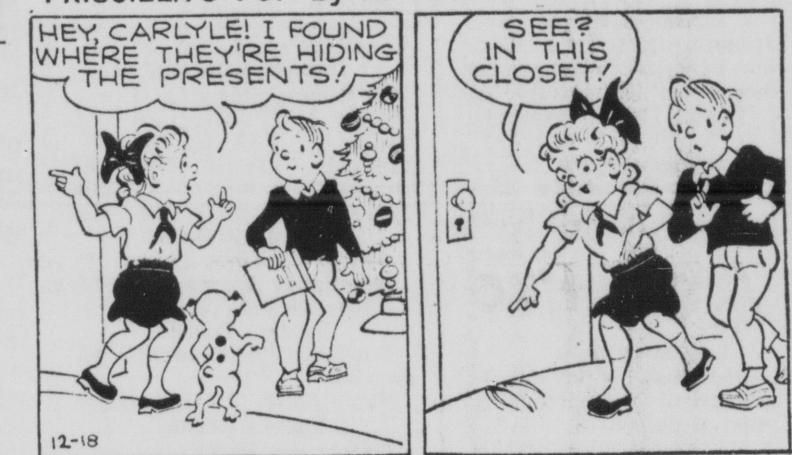

DEAR POLLY—I am a volunteer worker in a nursing home and in our activities therapy class we help the patients cut nylon stockings for filling small pillows. Cutting them in pieces makes the pillows fluffier and easier to wash. Hope this helps M. R.—PAULINE

DEAR POLLY—When opening a jar of instant coffee or tea I put a small hole in the jar sealer and it is easier to pour out the amount needed. The coffee and tea also seem to stay fresher longer.—MRS. V. C.

Vanderbilt, Boston Lead Big Slate

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Third-ranked Vanderbilt, which survived a determined bid by an underdog, and sixth-ranked Boston College, which didn't lead the way into college basketball's annual round of holiday tournaments this week.

The Commodores, who outlasted Duke 76-75 Saturday night, open their own invitational tournament in Nashville, Tenn., Friday with a game against Seton Hall. Oregon meets Wake Forest in the other first-round game.

The Eagles, upset in 91-90 overtime by St. John's, N.Y., meet North Carolina State Wednesday in a first-round game in the Boston Garden's invitational. Providence and LaSalle are also in the tournament.

Fourth-ranked Kentucky, which lost to North Carolina last week, hosts its tournament which opens Friday in Lexington, Ky. The Colonels play Dayton while Cincinnati meets South Carolina.

Other tournaments that get under way this week are:

Tampa, Fla., Invitational, which begins Wednesday, with Seattle, Rutgers, Auburn and St. Bonaventure.

Marshall tournament at Huntington, W. Va., which begins Wednesday with Manhattan, Bowling Green, Marshall and Virginia.

Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex., which begins Thursday, with Maryland, the University of Texas at El Paso, Southern Illinois and San Francisco.

Sun Devil Classic at Phoenix, Ariz., which begins Thursday, with Michigan, Arizona State, Oregon State and Oklahoma State.

In addition, one tournament that started over the weekend, the Virginia-VPI Invitational at Blacksburg, Va., finishes up tonight with Yale and Virginia playing for the championship.

Vanderbilt's victory over Duke Saturday came on Bob Wenyand's 25-foot jump shot with two seconds to go. The Blue Devils, who had won four straight, had taken the lead with 26 seconds to play on Mike Lewis' jumper.

St. John's won on two free throws by John Warren with 20 seconds left in overtime Sunday. The victory offset a 46-point performance by Boston College's Terry Driscoll, who led a second-half comeback after the Eagles trailed 48-41 at half-time.

Seventh-ranked North Carolina bumped 10th-ranked Princeton from the unbeaten ranks Saturday, downing the Tigers 71-63. Sophomore Charlie Scott had 17 points for the Tarheels.

Ninth-ranked Indiana beat North Carolina State 101-97 with sophomore Joe Cooke's 27 points

Don Cruzen Is New Men's Bowling Champ

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Don Cruzen of St. Louis is the Missouri All-Star Bowling tournament champion in the men's division, and Ann Maloney of St. Louis holds the women's title.

Cruzen posted a 5,428, an average of 226.4, that was not secure until Mickey Higham of Kansas City finished bowling on the final squad Sunday night.

Higham placed second with 5,377, followed by Fred Feutz of Kansas City with 5,350, Larry Wager of Kansas City with 5,227, and Ray Orf of St. Louis with 5,208.

The five men qualified for the National All-Star to be held at Garden City, N.Y., next May.

The women qualifiers were Ann Maloney and runner-up Alice Jean Wager. 23-year-old Kansas City high school teacher, Ann shot 3,116. Miss Wager won a two-game playoff with Martha Long of Kansas City after the two tied at 3,053.

Jim Volaski of Kansas City shot a 300 game Sunday night.

Coaches In Big Eight Can Breathe Easier

MONROE, La. (AP) — Big Eight Conference track coaches can breathe a sigh of relief for at least one more year. But Karl Salb already has shown he's the man to beat in the shot put come the 1968-69 season.

Salb, a Kansas freshman from Crossett, Ark., tossed the shot 60 feet 1/2-inch to finish second to Randy Matson's 65-2 1/4 at the Northeast Boosters Club indoor track and field meet here Saturday night.

Salb holds the national high school shot put record.

An Oklahoma foursome of Tom Melton, Cline Johnson, Dennis Cotner and James Hardwick won the mile relay in 3:17.2, while Oklahoma State was clocked in 7:49.5 as the Cowboys finished second to Florida in the 2-mile relay.

Cotner also won his section of the 60-high hurdles, stepping over the barriers in 7.4. Harvey Nairn of Southern University won the other section in the night's best time of 7.2.

Oklahoma's James Hardwick was third in the 440-yard dash with a 49.9 clocking, and the Sooners' Cline Johnson finished fourth in the 880 at 1:58.

Glenn Cunningham Jr. of Kansas was timed in 4:14.9 for second place in the mile behind Jim Crawford's 4:11.6. Crawford is from Harding, Ark., College.

The 1969 Texas Aggie football schedule lists LSU, Nebraska and Army in road games for their first three contests.

leading the way. Calvin Murphy, Niagara's star sophomore pumped in 52 points, leading his team to a 100-83 victory over LaSalle.

Life in NBA World Is Not His Oyster

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—After only a month of professional basketball, the luster has already dimmed for Earl (The Pearl) Monroe. He looks drawn. Some of his eye-catching court moves seem purely mechanical.

In the dank locker room below the Madison Square Garden stands, the Baltimore Bullets' highly publicized, highly paid rookie slowly buttoned his bright yellow shirt.

"I wish it was March," he said, his big, brown eyes looking bloodshot. "That's when the season's over. I'd get out of basketball right now if I could make nearly as much money doing anything else."

Monroe had started the game against the Knicks, scored five points and spent most of the second half comfortably on the bench.

"I'm averaging about 15 points a game," said Monroe. He smiled wanly. "But that's going down fast."

Much of the sparkle and clank that marked his play as the highest single-season scorer in collegiate history (1,329 points) and for which the Bullets are paying an estimated $50,000 a year has ebbed. It seems, now, that when he dribbles behind his back, he feels the crowd expects it of him—and not because he wants to or delights in it.

EARL MONROE
Long season

"I'm not tired in games, but I'm tired of the rest of it," said the 6-3 1/2, 190-pound guard. "The travel, the sleeping odd hours, the eating in restaurants. I get home to Philadelphia at least once a week to rest."

The period of adjustment from college to pro ball has been particularly hard on Monroe. He has not been hitting. His style of play has to be adjusted. And the pressures on him to spark the floundering Bullets in the standings as well as the box office have been great.

Monroe, the Bullets' No. 1 draft pick, led Winston-Salem to the NCAA small college championship last year. He controlled play. He was the ultimate in showmanship and ability—passing and dribbling between his legs and behind his back, assisting, rebounding and averaging 41.5 points a game.

What he did last year, he cannot do now. In pro ball—unless your name is Oscar Robertson—you cannot be a one-man team. "That puts the other four guys out of the game," said Don Ohl, another Bullets guard. "It takes time, maybe a year, to catch on to the way things are done up here—to learn defense and how to get clear for shots."

His offensive game has been especially irksome for Monroe.

"In preseason games, for example," he said, "I was called for charging about three times a game. And my shooting has been off ever since I got to camp. I've had a couple of hot nights—22 against the Knicks and 27 against one of those new West Coast teams. I thought I'd start hitting after that, but I haven't."

"I don't really feel the pressures outwardly," he said. Then he tapped his head. "But I know my problems are all up here. I guess I am pressing."

He stuck a toothpick in his mouth, and smiled.

"I know I'll snap out of it. Every season I have 'down' periods. I even had one last year. That's why my average dropped from 45 points a game to 41."

Don't Play Like Two Pro Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami Beach, Fla., is not known as a basketball town, and somebody must have told the St. Louis Hawks and the San Francisco Warriors.

Oh, the two National Basketball Association teams played Sunday night as scheduled, but they didn't exactly play like two National Basketball Association teams.

The Hawks made less than 40 per cent of their field goal attempts. The Warriors made just 26 per cent of theirs. The Hawks won 97-79.

San Francisco was particularly inept in the second half. Leading 49-45 at intermission, the Warriors were able to make only 10 of 55 shots from the floor and scored 30 points in the second half. Their total was one of the lowest in NBA history.

The hottest of the cold shooting hands belonged to the Hawks' Lennie Wilkens, who made a game-high six field goals and 10-of-10 foul shots for 22 points. Nate Thurmond scored 16 for the Warriors, who fell 3 1/2 games behind first-place St. Louis in the Western Division.

In other NBA games, Philadelphia whipped Seattle 139-124. Boston edged Los Angeles 123-117 and San Diego nipped Detroit 117-115.

Pittsburgh beat Minnesota 121-116 in overtime and New Orleans turned back Oakland 121-110 in the American Basketball Association.

Wilt Chamberlain, who scored 68 points in Philadelphia's 143-123 over Chicago Saturday night, led the 76ers' attack against Seattle with 47.

Player-coach Bill Russell, who usually concentrates on defense, poured in 37 points, which tied his pro career high, grabbed 19 rebounds and blocked numerous shots as Boston came from behind in the final quarter against Los Angeles.

The victory kept the Celtics in first place in the Eastern Division by percentage points over Philadelphia, although they trail the 76ers by one-half game.

John McGlocklin's field goal in the waning moments put San Diego ahead of Detroit 116-115 and Johnny Green's foul shot clinched it. John Bock led San Diego with 34 points, and Eddie Miles garnered 33 for Detroit.

440,043 See Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants, who sell out every Sunday, attracted 440,043 for the seven home games at Yankee Stadium. Counting their seven road games, the Giants played before 806,878 during the National Football League season.

Wins Three Events

MONTREAL (AP) — Elaine Tanner, who holds the women's record in the 100- and 200-meter backstroke, won three events and set a Canadian record Sunday at the Centennial Swim Meet.

Yale's Dan Begel made 37 straight extra points before he missed one in the 44-22 victory over Pennsylvania.

Snow Storm Is a Threat To Navajos

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — The Navajo tribe, rocked by the worst winter storm in memory of old-timers, hopes for a break in the weather to reach thousands marooned by snow up to four feet in depth.

"The situation is pretty terrible," said Frank Chambers, Navajo tribal police assistant superintendent.

Bureau of Indian Affairs officials estimated 60,000 Navajos are in varying degrees of distress from the storm that struck the reservation last Tuesday night.

Air Force cargo planes and helicopters were prepared to drop food, shelter, clothes and medical supplies for the Indians. Doctors were to accompany the helicopters.

"The first thing we are going to worry about is the people," said an Air Force spokesman. "We pray for no more snow." said the tribal police superintendent, V. Allen Adams. "The one thing we don't need is more snow. The old-timers say they have never seen anything like it."

At least one person is dead from the storm, a 60-year-old crippled sheep herder who lived in the sprawling reservation's northeast area. There were unconfirmed reports of five other deaths.

At Rough Rock a family of five, including three children, were extremely ill from exposure. Navajo police said.

Adams estimated 16,000 to 18,000 square miles of the 25,000-square-mile reservation, largest in the United States, was affected by the storm.

In many areas, deep snow immobilized tracked snow vehicles and other heavy equipment.

There were reports 150 to 200 persons might be marooned in the Pinon, Ariz., area in the northeast section of the reservation. A helicopter, flying from Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., reported seeing mirrors on the ground in the region, signaling for assistance.

The Air Force moved into Window Rock during the week-end to fly helicopters with food and medical assistance. Bad weather had curtailed the rescue operation.

Eight C-119 transports dropped an estimated 40,000 pounds of hay on the stricken Hopi reservation in central Arizona, which borders the Navajo area.

"We've got to get the people where they can take care of themselves," Adams said. "The Indian people have lived in hard country all of their lives. They have the ability to survive. They know what to do."

The shepherd's death was one of several caused by the massive storm in the Southwest during the weekend. Three Ft. Bliss, Tex., soldiers died when a chartered bus carrying service men home on Christmas leave overturned on an icy highway east of El Paso, Tex.

Other deaths included two occupants of a single-engine plane which crashed onto a central New Mexico mountainside during a snow storm. The victim was Doss Maner, the pilot, o Alamogordo, N.M., and Ale Padilla, of Albuquerque, N.M. One of four survivors of the crash, Frank Reeder of Albuquerque, said, "I didn't get scared until I looked out and saw tree tops. Then I knew we were in trouble."

Writer Says TV Show Helps Him To Relax

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The inevitable question asked Gerald Green is, how do you combine the careers of television producer and novelist?

Green's sad face draws into a slight smile as he says, "It isn't as dramatic as people think. The two careers don't overlap. I take time off to write."

"When I was younger I used to work weekends intensely and one night a week," he said. "I wrote 'The Last Angry Man' while working on the 'Today' show. I couldn't do that again."

Nevertheless, the latest efforts from both careers are about to make their bows just weeks apart.

His newest book, his eighth, is "To Brooklyn With Love," the January Book-of-the-Month Club selection, and "American Profile: The Forgotten Peninsula," a documentary on Baja California with Joseph Wood Krutch, was shown on the NBC television network Friday, Dec. 8.

The book tells the story of 12-year-old Albert Abrams, the son of a neighborhood doctor, as he grows up in the Brownsville slums of Brooklyn. Like several of Green's other books, it is partly autobiographical.

Green, a balding, husky six-footer wearing black suspenders decorated with fishing flies, said he now limits himself to two television documentaries a year and devotes the rest of his time to writing.

Comparing the two fields, he said, "I suppose a book is completely your own. Compared to any artistic expression it's the most satisfying. But writing is nerve-racking and lonely. I bleed a lot. Television is more fun and I find it relaxing."

His first book was "His Majesty O'Keefe," a biography of a self-proclaimed king of a South Sea island. "I wrote that with Larry Klingman when we both worked the overnight shift at the International News Service," he said.

"We'd come in a few hours early and write until it was time to start work. It was made into a movie with Burt Lancaster and it's still around on the late, late show."

A movie also was made of "The Last Angry Man," a fictionalized story about his father—a Brooklyn neighborhood doctor.

Large Job For Student At CMSC

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP)—Robert Neely, 21-year-old senior at Central Missouri State College, has a new, unpaid full-time job, in addition to a full load of college courses.

Neely was a delegate of the Campus Student Government Association to the national convention of Associated Student Governments of the U.S.A. held at San Jose, Calif., last month. To his surprise he found himself the head of the national student organization, which is the administrative arm of more than 120 affiliated student governments in the 50 states.

The bylaws of the organization provide that he must continue as a full-time student while holding office. Neely, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Neely Jr., Lincoln Mo., is a recreation major.

When not in class, the college library or having a bull session in his dormitory room, he usually can be found in the new office which has been provided him at the College Union.

The organization he heads is a young one, organized just four years ago.

It bears little resemblance to the older, larger, militant and more outspoken student organization, the National Student Association, which boasts strong chapters on most major college campuses.

Neely said the ASC had adopted a more conservative approach and that efforts to have the organization take stands on national political issues were defeated at the convention.

He described the mission of his organization as that of rendering advice and assistance to individual campus groups and to provide a communications network for the exchange of projects and ideas.

He plans to break new ground by providing organizational and administrative services to four-year colleges of less than 1,000 enrollment; junior colleges and community colleges, now increasing rapidly throughout the nation.

"Serious students who are in college seeking a well-rounded education are concerned about where they stand in the total college enrollment," Neely said when asked about the most common are of concern among delegates to the convention where he was elected president. "Today, more than ever before, students realize they are becoming a strong force in the national college picture; the other two, of course, being the administration and the faculty.

"We want to play an active role along with them in all areas of campus life. Student governments want to be concerned with more than just the sponsorship of homecoming activities."
